Alfred J. Boulton Has Plan for

Limited Preparedness.

Organized labor is considering a plan for limited preparedness, according to Alfred J. Boulton, a leader in the Brooklyn Central Labor Union, who spoke last night on national defence at Washington Irving High School. He has prepared a plan which he will submit to the Cardenia Exderical Union and the Brook. Central Federated Union and the Brook lyn organization with the expectation of having it indorsed by these labor bodies as an adequate system. He decried the present demand for a greatly increased army and navy, however, dailing it "a wave of hysteria that will soon die out." "Labor has not as yet taken any defi-nite stand on the question," he said.
"We do not know just what sort of armament is most efficient, whether bat-tleships or forts are more effective. Alan Benson says we can defend the entire l'nited States coast with $15,000,000 worth of mines."
